Finns Deny Reports That Koivisto Fortress Has Been Taken By Reds

HELSINKI, Feb. 21.—Frantic Russian efforts to relieve the Soviet 164th division, trapped by encircling Finnish troops north of Kitelee on Finland's eastern frontier, failed today, according to military dispatches to Helsinki.

The 164th division is one of three Red army units seriously endangered along the Finnish border. The others are the 6th and the 54th divisions. The sixth division is especially hard pressed and Finnish authorities expect it will soon suffer a fate as devastating as that meted out to the Soviet 18th division.

Defeat of the 18th was announced by Finnish authorities on Monday in a communiqué confirming an exclusive International News Service dispatch from Courtney Terrell of Feb. 6, which gave a detailed description of the Russian debacle.

Communications severed. Reports from the eastern front stated the communications established by the 164th division have been severed by Finnish patrols and that Russian airplanes are now dropping food and other supplies to the marooned men.

Following yesterday's gigantic Russian air raids over central and southern Finland, in which an estimated 700 or 800 Soviet planes participated, Helsinki shortly after midnight received its seventh successive air raid alarm.

Russian bombing planes, supported by fighting craft, appeared near the capital but Finnish defense planes rose to meet them.

Several aerial battles were reported to have taken place west of the city, in which Finland's newest planes, imported from abroad, participated.

Finnish circles claimed that at least two of the Russian craft were shot down.

Heavy snow and dark clouds were reported from the north-central Baltic front and were expected to halt the Russian offensive which has been going on in that area for three weeks.

PA NEW C OBSERVES

Street department forces were busy during the night continuing the job of hauling ice and snow off the downtown streets. This morning, most of the main streets had been effectively cleared of the large accumulations of ice.

Tomorrow is Washington's birthday anniversary and such will be observed as a legal holiday.

City hall will be closed tomorrow, Washington's birthday, according to Mayor Charles S. Mayne. It was at first anticipated that only a half holiday would be given. His Honor said today that council would meet Thursday at 10 a. m., however.

Hear Evidence In Boy's Death

Coroner Nugent Probes Death Of Charles Pezzulo, Killed By Auto Truck

INQUEST HELD AT HILLSVILLE

After hearing the testimony of witnesses regarding the death of Charles Pezzulo, aged 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Pezzulo of Hillsville, who was killed last Thursday evening near the Carbon Limestone company quarries, when struck by an automobile truck, a jury empaneled by Coroner T. Frank Nugent, did not fix any blame for the boy's death, but stated that in their opinion the truck which struck the boy was operated by John Schiraldi, driving a truck owned by Carmen D'Ambrosia of Hillsville. The inquest, conducted last evening, took place in the courtroom of Squire J. H. Eakin of Hillsville.

Five boys, who were in the group of which the Pezzulo boy was a member, who had been seen sledding near the intersection of the road leading from the Carbon Limestone company property onto Route 224, on the western outskirts of Hillsville, were the principal witnesses.

Only one of the boys, Billy Mito, stated that he had actually seen his companion struck. The others, James and Mike Patronite and Mike and Rocco Longo, told of being in the group and of the events leading up to and following the time Pezzulo was struck.

Agree On Truck

All were agreed that the truck which struck the boy was a "Diamond T" truck, painted red and was loaded with limestone screenings.

Search for the truck by state motor police narrowed down to a truck owned by Carmen D'Ambrosia of Hillsville and having been driven by John Schiraldi, Private M. M. Poloskey of the motor police stated.

Prepare For Early
Trial Of Roosevelt
Divorce Contest

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21.—The way was clear today for possible immediate divorce trial between James Roosevelt, film producer and eldest son of the President, and his estranged wife, Betsy Cushing Roosevelt.

Young Roosevelt, who last Thursday filed a divorce complaint on the charge of desertion, yesterday filed answer to Mrs. Roosevelt's cross-complaint, which was filed Monday. He denied her allegations of desertion and cruelty.

Roosevelt's attorney, Milton H. Schwartz, said he had discussed with Roosevelt any possibility concerning either Roosevelt or his wife allowing the other to obtain the divorce decree without contest.

Without contest from either side, the case might be tried within the next few days, but should the case remain on the court calendar as a contest four or five months might elapse before it would be brought to trial.

Compensation For Time Lost During Labor Tieup, Order

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Feb. 21.—Approximately 25,000 Chrysler Corporation employees are entitled to about $3,000,000 in unemployment compensation insurance for time lost during a 54-day labor dispute last fall, unemployment compensation referee Charles Rubinoff ruled today.

His decision is subject to appeal by any interested party within 15 days, Rubinoff said, adding that if it is not appealed within that time payments will begin at once but if it is appealed payment will be withheld pending appellate decision.

Late Huey Long Dynasty Is Given Severe Jolt In Louisiana Election

Sam Houston Jones

Gov. Earl K. Long

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 21.—An avalanche of rural votes endorsed the gubernatorial candidacy of Sam Houston Jones today and swept aside the tattered remnants of the once powerful machine founded a dozen years ago by the late Huey P. Long.

Administration Standard Bearer Gov. Earl K. Long, brother of Huey, piled up a big majority in New Orleans, but rural voters disregarded his fervent plea for Democratic nomination and backed the reform movement headed by Jones.

Jones Is Ahead

Unofficial returns from 1,489 out of 1,703 precincts in the state gave: Jones, 250,897.
Long, 232,648.

Moscow Says
First Stage Of War Is Ended

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, Feb. 21.—"The first stage of the Finnish war has ended," the Moscow radio stated in a thundering announcement today as the Soviet high command claimed capture of the western Mannerheim line fortress of Kolvioto.

(Editor's Note: Finnish military authorities at Helsinki officially denied that the Kolvioto fortress had fallen to the Soviet forces.)

"We had to learn the Terrain and find means of fighting," the Moscow announcer told his listeners.

"Now comes the next stage of the war, which will soon be over. The Mannerheim line will be broken."

The radio announcement followed issuance of a Soviet war communiqué which stated that Red Army troops occupied the town and fortress of Kolvioto (Bjoerke) and captured large quantities of Finnish war material.

(The London Daily Mail reported from Copenhagen that the Russians, after cutting off the Kolvioto fortress, were battering their way along the Finnish coastal railway and had reached three points behind the Finnish citadel.)

JUNIOR B. P. W. CLUB TEA ENJOYABLE EVENT

The initiation tea held recently in the home of Miss Louella McBride, Boyles avenue, membership chairwoman of the Junior Business and Professional Women's club, was an enjoyable affair, attracting upwards of twenty-five guests.

The hours were spent informally, and pouring at a table colorfully appointed, was Miss Irene Hietisch, president of the organization.

New members, initiated, included the following: Misses Laura Snider, Leslie Cleal, Ruth Bane, Ruth Twaddle, Esther Trent, Charlotte Withers, Marion Clinfelter, Marjorie Pattison, Jean Cartwright, Jane McClintock and Marjorie Moore.

On Monday evening, the Executive Board members will meet in the home of Miss Betty Ramsey, Wallace avenue, with Betty O'Donnell, co-hostess.

Society Has Meeting

Mrs. Oscar Swanson was hostess Tuesday evening to members of the Margaret Copeland Missionary society of the Third U. P. church in her home, 1033 Maryland avenue.

Mrs. C. C. McKibben and Mrs. Mack Wiles were in charge, and later the president, Mrs. Elmer Rice, introduced Dr. T. J. McFate, the guest speaker, who showed motion pictures on the East and Frenchburg, Ky., missions schools. Dr. McFate gave an interesting talk on the work of these missions.

Officers were elected for the year: president, Mrs. Wilbert Hughes; vice-president, Mrs. G. G. Orr; secretary, Mrs. Alan Cartwright; treasurer, Mrs. Earl Lutz; thank offering secretary, Mrs. Catherine McEnery; temperance secretary, Mrs. Bureleigh Craig; literature secretary, Mrs. Mack Wiles.

Dainty refreshments were served to the group, with Mrs. Bert Book and Mrs. Charles Douglas assisting the hostess.

Plans were made for an anniversary banquet to be held on March 19 in the church dining room. New officers will be installed at this time.

Weaver Circle

Weaver Circle members of the Epworth Methodist church were entertained Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Orville Chain, Adams street.

Featuring was a demonstration in costume of "Three Sisters Find the Way," conducted by Miss Grace Stiltzinger. Those taking part were: Loh Hogue, Luella Rowe and Olive Jones, representing Japan, Korea and China.

Mrs. Ethel McCurdy had charge of the devotionals and her theme was "The Great Highway." Mrs. C. L. Sipe and Mrs. Jack Dicker had readings from "The Friend." Those in charge of the program were Mrs. Ethel McCurdy, Mrs. Willard Jones, Mrs. Grace Rodgers and Mrs. Mae Rees.

March 10, members will meet with Mrs. Harry McCurdy, Fairmont avenue.

D. D. 500 Club

Mrs. Norman Keefe proved a charming hostess, Tuesday evening, to members of the D. D. 500 club at her home on Walnut street for their regular meeting.

Three tables of 500 were in play with prizes going to Mrs. Herman Decker and Mrs. Roy Ringer. Mrs. William Evans won the gallop. Three special guests were Mrs. Kert Rupp, Mrs. Norman Decker and Mrs. Roy Ringer. Following dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be in two weeks.

MAHONINGTOWN CLUB AT RUEHLE RESIDENCE

"New All-American Flowers for 1940" was the title of the interesting paper read by Mrs. Charles Dungan at the Mahoningtown Garden club meeting in the home of Mrs. Earl Ruehle, 708 North Cedar street, Tuesday evening. Mrs. Sara Clark was co-hostess.

Mrs. Arthur Brown had charge of the meeting with Mrs. W. C. Patterson in charge of the program. Roll call was answered with "A Garden Verse" and Mrs. George Cook exhibited the new catalogs.

A patriotic color scheme was carried out in the lunch served by the hostesses.

Next meeting will be March 19 in the home of Mrs. Richard Gwilym, West Madison avenue.

Special guests at the meeting were Mrs. Ada Robinson and Miss I. Walters.

METHODIST SOCIETY HAS PATRIOTIC PARTY

Queen Esther Auxiliary members of the First Methodist church gathered in the church activity rooms Tuesday evening and enjoyed a patriotic party-meeting.

Preceding, Mrs. John Loudon gave a fine review of the subject "Coat of Home Missions" from "Homeland Harvest." Mrs. I. M. Henley, district representative of Home Missions, spoke on Stewardship. Mrs. Jessie Cunningham, who is the group news commentator, discussed current topics.

Tasty refreshments were served. Hostesses were Mrs. George Knox, Mrs. James Elmore, Mrs. Vennor Bright, Mrs. John Dickerson, Mrs. B. F. Seibrink, Mrs. Howard Hammond, Mary Alice White and Alma Wolverton. March 19, members will meet again.

Sicilian Girls

On Tuesday evening the Emerson avenue home of Mrs. Michael Gennaula was opened to members of the Sicilian Girls club.

Sessions of card contests were held, the 500 high score trophy being awarded to Mrs. Frank Cozza. A game playing period was enjoyed, prizes being captured by Mrs. Francis DeSantis, Mrs. Trini Donaldson, and Mrs. Harlan Mone.

At an appropriate hour, the group was ushered into the dining room, where they partook a delicious lunch, with Josephine Gennaula assisting the hostess in serving.

Special guests on this occasion included Mrs. Frank Cozza, Mrs. Joseph Angeliotti, of Warren, O., and Palma Julian, the latter receiving a lovely hostess' gift.

March 7, is the date chosen for the next meeting at the residence of Mrs. Harlan Mone, Center Way.

OMINOUS DICTATORSHIP IN PARAGUAY

DICTATORSHIP is hardly new or strange in South America. But the one-man rule set up in Paraguay by General Estigarribia, President of the country since last April, has ominous overtones.

Estigarribia declares that the democracy established by the Paraguayan Constitution of 1870 is outmoded and that a different kind of democracy, based on "collective co-operation," is now in order.

"Collective co-operation" sounds more like an echo of Moscow than of Berlin or Rome. Whether Paraguay's dictatorship is Communist in inspiration, or Nazi or Fascist, it has nothing whatever to do with democracy.

Every sign of dictatorship in the New World is a warning to all the Americas. But it may be significant that Paraguay's economic and political troubles stem from the long Chaco war which Paraguay finally won against Bolivia.

This seems to bear out the theory that warring countries, whether in victory or defeat, become fertile ground for opposition to democracy. The surest way to strengthen democracy and combat alien "isms" in this Hemisphere is to work for peace and friendship among the countries of North, Central and South America.

LITTLE RED SCHOOLHOUSE FADING OUT

The remorseless drive for "consolidation" against which Central Pennsylvania's Amish farmers have struggled so manfully is nevertheless wiping out this state's "little red schoolhouses" at the rate of 300 a year, according to the State Department of Education.

In the last twenty years 4000 such one-room schools have been reorganized into 1000 larger structures, fed by school district bus lines. The trend is characteristic of that noted throughout the country.

The little red schoolhouse, often a white one in this state, played a significant part in American history in its time, not the least in developing a high order of citizenship. There may be sound reasons to regret its steady progress toward extinction.

NO REPORTER'S WAR

This European war, the one south of Finland, is proving a measly one for newspaper correspondents. Germany insists that German writers and photographers at the front be members of the armed troops. England and France haven't gone that far, but they put blinders on the newspaper men and lead them to the front in groups that scarcely get a glimpse of anything and are not allowed to write it when they do see something.

Back of the lines the censorship code is copper-riveted. The communications are put through a lemon-squeezer before a newspaper man is permitted to read them.

Even the parliamentary reporter, whose rights never before have been denied, is barred from the news in this war. When the other day Blum forced a secret session of the Deputies on Daladier, the ushers cleared all the galleries, even looking under the benches; locked the gallery doors; drove all the newspaper men from the outer corridors and forced them to take refuge in a residence up the street.

These are hard times for the reporter. There isn't much news in this war and he isn't allowed to have even that.

PAYING POUNDS FOR OUR SECURITIES

The ultimate taking over of all American securities held by its people is foreshadowed by the British Government's initial move covering sixty standard stocks which it is paying for with pounds sterling. Since the apprehended dumping of foreign-owned American securities on our market, which once bulked large in Wall Street's fears, has not taken place after several months of war, there is even less likelihood now.

At least the uncertainty which has hung over our market has been removed by the British Treasury's announcement of a long-range plan of orderly liquidation. Obviously the new owner of these stocks will wish to obtain the best price possible and is not going to make sacrifice sales.

On the part of Great Britain this seems to be a purely precautionary measure, looking to the future. The dollar proceeds from the subsequent sales of Government-owned stocks will be spent in this country for much-needed supplies.

Although the official acquisition of these securities, long foreshadowed, had not been expected so soon—a similar move was not made by Great Britain until the World War was nearly two years old—the closing quotations of our stock exchanges yesterday indicated that the action had been fully discounted by the traders.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

PERSONALLY CONDUCTED HOME TOUR

It's quite a ways yet to spring. Most of us will have many idle hours to dissipate while winter weather keeps us indoors. A few of those hours could be both pleasantly and profitably spent in the interest of fire prevention. And that activity might be the means of assuring that you will continue to have a door to bolt against the cold!

Next time you find the hours dragging, start out on a little tour of your home. Take the family along—it won't be an arduous trip. Begin in the attic, where all those ancient magazines you've meant to read and never will, are stored, along with paper cartons, your wife's collection of old clothes, broken furniture which you'll never find time to repair and wouldn't use if you did, and similar odds and ends. Sorting over the collection will probably afford amusement, as you come to that forgotten picture of Aunt Hattie in her wedding dress, and kindred relics. Have your fun—and when it's over call the junkman.

Do this in closets, spare rooms, basement, garage. And it's a safe bet you'll come on many a dangerous fire hazard you never knew existed. Fire likes nothing better than accumulations of rags, paper, improperly stored inflammable liquids, amateur electric repair jobs, etc.

The upshot will be a more comfortable and roomy home, no less than a safer home. Probably you'll find articles which can be used by charities, and thus do a good turn for your less fortunate neighbors. Let's get going on that personal fire prevention tour.

What is worrying Hitler these days is the thought that Stalin will fight as hard for Germany as Mussolini has.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

Perhaps the most destructive fears of childhood and youth don't happen in the dark or in a thunder storm, but in the classroom. Did you ever hear a child of eight, 12 or 18 tell how he sometimes feels when he attempts to talk in the classroom? Perhaps you have not; for most children and youth would hesitate to relate such experiences lest they might be laughed at "for being so foolish."

This may help explain why so many educators, with whom I have talked about this matter, insist that it is only the very occasional child who suffers from self-consciousness in the classroom. Nevertheless, I still insist that instead of being the exception, it's the rule; that there probably is not a single child or youth without some of these fears.

Frequently I have said in public addresses, before teachers, that in the average classroom, learning efficiency might, perhaps, be doubled if teachers knew how to make every child there feel emotionally secure and comfortable when he speaks before his classmates. In my judgment this is one of the biggest unsolved problems in mental health and education.

Some years ago a graduate student of mine published a study in which she questioned 100 boys and girls of the ninth grade about their emotions in the classroom. Practically all of them reported some feelings of fear there.

Before many groups of junior and senior high school students I have conducted a forum on "Your Fears and Mine." After I frankly confess some of my personality fears, these youths, on being convinced they won't be laughed at, are eager to tell about theirs. They tell about dry lips and throat, clammy hands, chilly spine, shaky knees, burning face, "log in the stomach," breathing difficulties, speech troubles and struggles to keep attention on what they want to say.

But there are many more teachers who are considerate of a pupil's feelings than there used to be; also more such parents.

Mother-Teacher Writes
A sympathetic mother-teacher writes from Colorado:

"I have a little boy in the fifth grade who is afraid to get up and read in front of his class. He begins to cry and cannot even do it standing by his seat. His mother tells me his father quit high school because of this same fear. What can I do to help this child?"

Writing her personally, I advised that she let the lad sit at the rear, hoping that he soon will gain courage to stand by his seat and read a few sentences, and eventually to stand and read before his class—very gradual adjustments, in other words. With the deep human interest this teacher takes in how this child feels, she will, I believe, create an atmosphere in the classroom which will gradually help this and other children to be more secure emotionally. Blessed is the timid child who has a teacher who understands and cares about how he feels.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. Do you believe in fairy tales?
A. I certainly do. So do children whose imagination is not hampered by bone-headed, matter-of-fact adults.

Q. Would you ever read a child's note or letter or diary in order to learn about conduct in him you are anxious about?
A. May Heaven forbid that I should ever be guilty of such a crime against any child.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

CHARLES MOTT

Questionable is the publicity given to the account of salaries paid to various citizens, as Presidents, General Managers, actors and others employed by the many corporations of the Nation. Not that the salaries are too great for the services rendered, but there are entirely too many Communists in this country as it is. There is too much disposition on the part of too many citizens to express their envy with the slogan—"Soak the Rich."

The publishing of the holdings of stock in the American Corporations, the securities of which are listed on the New York Stock Exchange might also be considered questionable. Yet in the lists that the Securities and Exchange Commission publishes from time to time, there are uncovered many a romantic story. One such came to light in the last report of the Commission.

How many people in these United States know the name of Charles Stewart Mott, of Flint, Michigan. They know him up in Michigan, but when the affairs of General Motors are discussed by citizens, they only think of the Du Ponts. They may mention others, but the Du Pont family is the central figure of General Motors.

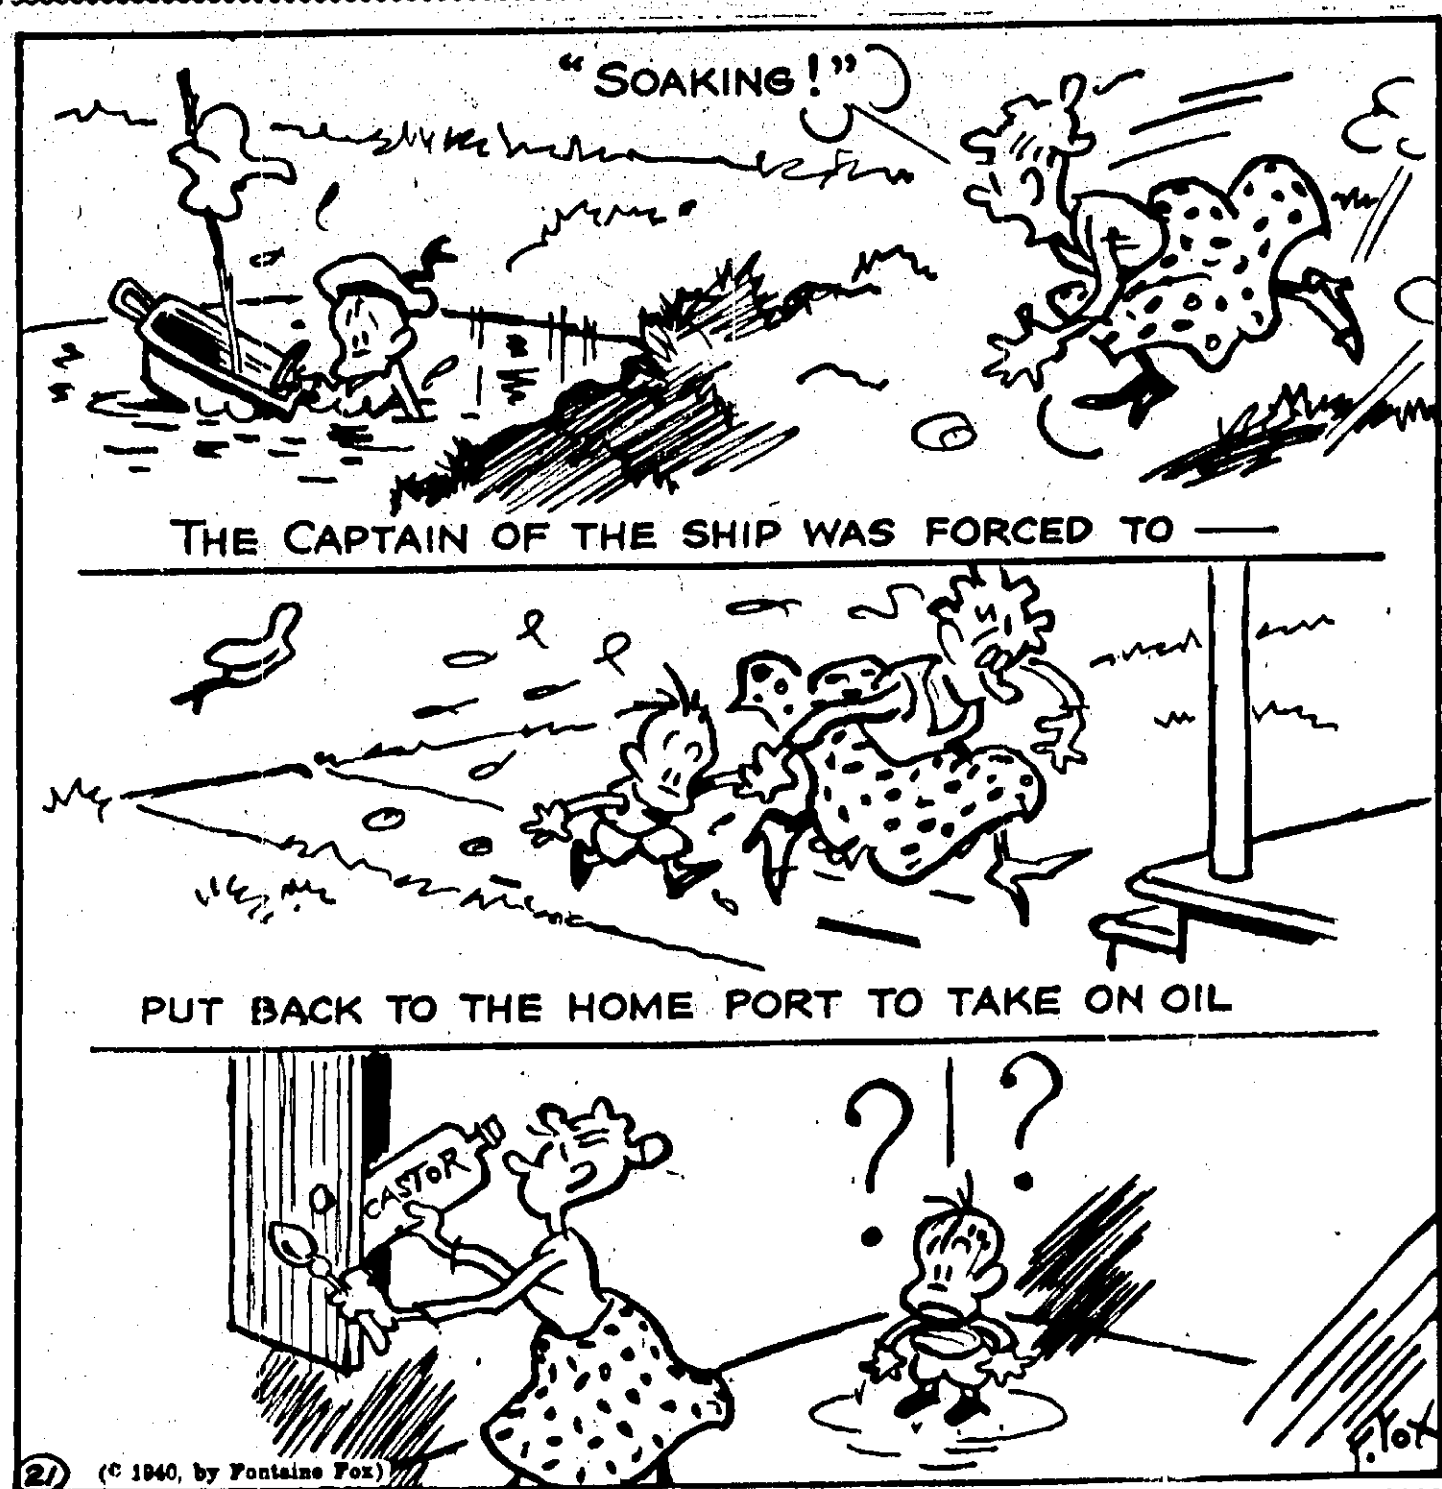

This last report of the Commission charged Mott with the owning of 123,087 shares of General Motors, and there the story breaks. It seems that Mr. Mott has steadily during his lifetime bought General Motors stock. He has never sold any. He is one of the Directors of General Motors, having served on the Board for twenty-one of these years. He served as Vice President for a long time in charge of Michigan operations, with offices both in Flint and Detroit.

It seems that Mr. Mott, when the automobile industry was in its infancy, began the manufacture of wire wheels for motor cars and after several years of prosperity the wire wheel market collapsed and Mr. Mott switched over to the manufacture of automobile axles. His business increased and in 1906 he moved his factory to Flint, where he has since been. He has all the able business sense of a man who would have been a success in any business.

Readers' Questions Answered
Dear Miss Markel: I am going to order some personal stationery. Give me your opinion on this subject—whether it should be typed or white, folded or plain sheets, and what of correspondence cards?—A.B.

Answer: All deep shades should be avoided. Stationery with gilt edges and oddly shaped envelopes display a tendency toward loneliness. Some artists prefer envelopes with cut edges, but they are not appropriate for non-Bohemians. Stationery may be of double sheets, four pages in all or single sheets. These may be small or large according to your taste and the style of your hand-writing. Women may use correspondence cards for short notes and larger sheets for letters. These must not be sent or in any way flamboyant. For general correspondence avoid colorful and gaily lined envelopes. These are appropriate for young girls' stationery as well as for Christmas cards.

Miss Markel will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader enclosing self-addressed three-cent stamped envelope.

Lincoln Birthday "Show" Opens Fight
Democrats Sense Formidable Opposition
Overshadowed Democrats Jackson Effort

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.

ON LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY, the Democratic party organization got a sample of the kind of Republican attack it will have to deal with during the coming political campaign. Democratic leaders aren't admitting for publication that the Republicans' initial barrage gave them anything to worry about. Confidentially, however, their chafes at the effect that that Lincoln Day performance forebodes a fight for which they must lighten their lines. They must realize that the Republicans' Lincoln Day blow-out knocked their Jackson Day affair into a cocked hat.

Jackson Day festivities weren't prepared for on a major scale. There were some big banquets, but they were social events rather than popular rallies. They weren't publicized capably, either before they were held or afterward. Their avowed purpose was to raise money for Democratic campaign activities. A $5 dinner at from $25 to $100 per plate isn't calculated to draw a crowd of average voters.

Their speeches were good, but not particularly thrilling. Moreover, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R.) didn't do the celebration much good by reminding the country that the Democrats' original Jackson Day celebration, back in Old Hickory's time, was to signify the extinction of Uncle Sam's national indebtedness—now under a Democratic administration, approaching $4 billion.

As To Lincoln Day!
Compare Jackson Day with Lincoln Day.

The Jacksonites had eight to 10 notable talkers throughout the country.

The Lincolnites had 800 to 1,000. They included some "big guns"—Ex-President Hoover, Ex-Governor Landon, Tom Dewey, Vandenberg, Senator Bob Taft, Congressman Joe Martin and plenty of governors, besides lots of local celebrities.

Republican oratory, in fact, was so copious that the radio couldn't carry all of it. It couldn't be listened to all around. Interested folk had to read a lot of it in the next morning's newspapers. Probably they DIDN'T read all of it. Just the same, the newspapers had three or four pages of Lincoln Day stuff in comparison with three or four columns of Jackson Day Rooseveltianism & Co.

In fact, Lincoln Day made a good deal more of a "splash" than Jackson Day did.

There's another consideration.

An offensive is a deal more snappy than a defensive is.

Lincoln Day was OFFENSIVE; Jackson Day was DEFENSIVE.

But aside from that, the Republicans' management was better than the Democrats'. They furnished a better show than the Democrats did.

Demo Split
As everybody knows, it's up to the Democrats to repair another of their fundamental weaknesses.

Their split. The New Dealers and anti-New Dealers. The Republicans are pretty solid.

It's been illustrated by these two sets of anniversaries.

Republican sentiment is all down the same alley. Democrats are down two different alleys. Some Democrats are almost Republicans. Some Republicans can almost get along with some Democrats.

But they're partially divided.

There ought to be two new parties, of course.

But there won't be two new groups on rational lines. They'll be political.

I wish there could be two parties. But there ain't—anywhere on earth.

It would be possible to decide between 'em. It ain't.

They just don't split evenly.

There may be two parties—a liberal and a conservative, but not two parties, as such.

A Raphael in the attic, thick wrapped and stored away
Is just another bundle, despite what critics say.

For all we have and gather of common stuff and rare
Requires, to fill its purpose, our willingness to share.

An empty thing is beauty that's kept for self alone.
The glory of a painting to others must be shown, and its worth is known.

Deny its charm to friendships and leave your side walls, bare.
You own it but you've lost it the while it's hidden there.

Some reckon worth by figures which stamped on tags are seen,
But barren is possession and little is the gain when shared.

For ownership is empty and merely senseless care.
Save others know we have it and may its splendors share.

Annual Ingathering
Of Y.W.C.A. Begins
Next Tuesday NightWorkers' Dinner February 27
Will Start Annual Membership Ingathering

Tuesday of next week, February 27, the annual ingathering of Y. W. C. A. memberships will begin with a worker's dinner in the Y. W. C. A. private dining room, at 6:30 p. m.

This will be the first and only dinner meeting of the campaign. The workers will receive instructions, cards and name lists. The dinner will be prepared by the Polish clubs of the Association.

Reports of the progress of the ingathering will be made by team captains at 10 a. m. March 7, and at 7:30 p. m. March 19. An extra report meeting for members who are unable to attend that of March 19, will be held at 7:30 p. m. March 28.

On the planning committee for the campaign are: Mrs. Robert A. Eckles, chairman, Mrs. J. W. Baletine, Mrs. S. J. Callahan, Mrs. A. B. Fankhauser, Mrs. Leon Pink, Mrs. W. R. Hanna and Mrs. Roy Long, president.

In a letter to all present members of the Young Women's Christian Association, mailed Tuesday, Mrs. Eckles wrote:

"This ingathering of members is much more than a financial campaign. The Y. W. C. A. is like a hardy plant, whose members are the life giving source through which God gives it growth. Each spring there comes the joy of awakening life, as its members reunite to promote growth in Christian character and service."

Dr. R. M. Patterson
To Make AddressWill Be One Of Speakers At
"Youth And Democracy"
Rally Thursday

Dr. Robert Meade Patterson, new pastor of Central Presbyterian church, and Lester Benjamin, Pittsburgh, prominent in the affairs of B'nai B'rith, Jewish organization, today were named speakers for the first "Youth and Democracy" rally to be held by New Castle's H-I-Y clubs and the Aleph Zadik Aleph unit in the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night.

The patriotic observance, developed to impress upon local youth the great blessings of American democracy, is expected to draw a large crowd to the "Y."

Rev. Patterson came here a short time ago from Steubenville to succeed Dr. Charles B. Winger as the Central pastor. He is a graduate of Vanderbilt university and of Princeton Theological seminary.

Benjamin, one-time Hazleton, Pa., resident, and now of neighboring Pittsburgh, will represent the Jewish youth on the evening program. He is a former exchange student to China, a former deputy of A. Z. A. B'nai B'rith's junior order, and is now active in B'nai B'rith itself.

'Frozen Sleep'
Cures Leukemia
Doctor Claims

(International News Service)
EVANSTON, Ill., Feb. 20.—A male patient to whom Dr. W. L. Warner of Evanston administered the "frozen sleep" treatment for chronic leukemia is now in Florida playing golf. It was reported today.

The physician, however withheld his patient's name and declined to draw any conclusion at present as to whether the new freezing treatment will prove effective in the long run against leukemia, a blood disease.

Dr. Warner said he also gave the treatment once each to a boy five and one-half years old, and to a girl three and one-half years old; and that both died "after a period of some months" of leukemia. The man patient now in Florida was treated with freezing last October.

His statements followed a disclosure by Drs. Temple Fay and Lawrence W. Smith at Temple university, Philadelphia, that the ice treatment in which body temperatures are lowered more than 18 degrees may prove effective against the blood disease.

The Great Game Of Politics

employees to line up sentiment in favor of it. The testimony on the point of putting pressure on Congress amounted to a confession. These facts have been given to Mr. Jackson. There seems here a clear and admitted violation of a Federal law by Federal Officials. The reaction of the Attorney General is awaited. It will be a real test of his character. It will provide a yardstick by which he can be measured. Either he will make it clear that the Federal statutes cannot be violated with impunity while he heads the department or he makes it clear that he is not concerned so much about the sanctity of the law as the immunity from punishment of Administration supporters.

AND if Federal officials are to be allowed to violate the Federal law against lobbying, is there any reason to expect this department to punish those who violate the Hatch Act against political activity? Or, for that matter, any other act? If members of this board can escape prosecution and hold on to their jobs after their admissions in this matter, then there is no reason any Federal official should hesitate to do anything he pleases, so long as he supports the New Deal and Mr. Jackson is Attorney General. Isn't a nice spot he is in, and isn't made any softer by the fact that he has exhibited such a complete lack of interest in the forged letters used to attack Mr. Dies, and apparently does not intend to bother about those unfinished investigations which his predecessor, Mr. Murphy, said had revealed "awful" conditions.

PERHAPS the other admissions of the Labor Board do not lay its members open to legal action, but certainly a shocking chapter in the history of the Roosevelt Administration is to be read in the admitted practice of using public funds to coerce employers in their relations with employees. Testimony before the committee reveals an agreement between the RFC and the NLRB which was used practically as a black-jack by the latter. No one, of course, thinks it wrong for the Government to refuse loans or contracts to a firm convicted of a crime in a court of law, but in these cases the NLRB used its black-jack against firms that had not even been tried. Obtaining from the RFC a list of companies to which loans had been authorized, it arranged with the RFC to hold up the loans to any companies against which the NLRB had or would make complaint.

IN effect, this arrangement enabled NLRB to put what companies it would on the RFC black list. The Scripps-Howard papers editorially declared that "this scheme comes pretty close to blackmail." Certainly it is an outrageous use of the taxpayers' money. It gave the Labor Board a club to hold over the management of American business such as the RFC, which has been better managed than any other governmental agency, should have cooperated to make this sort of thing possible. In face of all these things, it seems incredible that, either the Congress or the law will continue as it is. The question of curbing the use of Congress. But the question of punishing law violation is up to the Attorney General. To shelve this matter as he has shelved some others will not be healthy for Mr. Jackson. No one objects to his being politically ambitious, but some friend ought to tell him that there are public positions in which the best politics is no politics. And his is one of them.

from the Buick Motor Car Company. Within four years he was employing twenty-three hundred men and making axles for most of the automobiles then built.

Before this man went into the wire wheel business, in fact, when he started out on life, after being graduated from the Stevens Institute of Technology in 1897, he engaged in the manufacture of Soda Water Machinery in New York. That was his first venture. Believing in the future of the automobile, he almost immediately changed to the manufacture of wheels. He did serve Flint as its mayor two consecutive terms and was a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of Michigan. And so, therefore, it is true that while Michigan knows something of Mott, most of the citizens of this country never identified Mr. Mott with the DuPonts.

"Sometimes" he once remarked, "I am at a loss what to say in public, but get me down on the ground among honest men in overalls, with the smell of machine oil in the air, and they will soon learn that I am one with them in spirit and experience."

Colonial Pageant
In Pulaski Church

Eight churches in the Pulaski district of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association are co-operating in the presentation of "The Spirit of '76," a Colonial pageant, in the Pulaski Presbyterian church Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

This will be the Pennsylvania premier, Rev. Luther Macdonald, pastor of the Pulaski church, said today, and most fitting celebration of Washington's birthday. Those who attend will see costumes of the kind worn in Washington's day, and they will see an old fashioned spinning wheel in action.

I work my cars hard, so I shopped the entire field before I bought my 1940 Packard. In 4 months I've run up 18,017 miles — spent only $1.35 for mechanical upkeep. I get a real kick out of the pick-up and performance of my 1940 Packard because it's so thrifty — as cheap to run as smaller cars I've owned.

Of interest to local friends is the announcement that Miss Martina Hite, daughter of Leo P. Hite, who formerly resided at 215 Park avenue, is now employed as an airline hostess by Transcontinental Western Airlines, on the New York to Kansas City run.

Miss Hite graduate from New Castle high school and took her nurses training, which is required of all airlines hostesses, at the Mercy hospital in Pittsburgh.

She has been employed by TWA for the past six months, and recently received a promotion with the company.

She is a sister of John Hite of Park avenue, and Edward F. Hite, of East Reynolds street, who operates Hite Brothers Service station here.

East Brook W. C. T. U. was entertained in the home of Mrs. S. A. Black and Mrs. Charles Black recently. Mrs. J. A. Young and Mrs. S. A. Black opened the meeting with devotions, after which Mrs. Mae McConahay led in singing, "Christ for the World We Stand."

Roll call was answered with a Bible temperance verse and Mrs. Mae McConahay spoke on the life of Susan B. Anthony. Three poems were presented by Mrs. John Morrow.

The theme of the meeting was "Legalize Danger" and Mrs. S. A. Black had as her topic, "Roadhouses." An open discussion followed. Reports from the Loyalty luncheon were followed by a routine session.

Lunch was served by the hostesses, aided by Mrs. Vane D. Johns.

FRANCES WILLARD UNION
Mrs. George R. McClelland was hostess to the ladies of the Frances Willard W. C. T. U. Friday evening, in the parlors of the Central Presbyterian church.

The roll call, "A temperance fact or a verse of Scripture" was answered by 24 members.

Mrs. J. B. McClaren led the worship service in the absence of Mrs. W. E. McKee, the devotional leader. "The White Ribbon Rally Song" opened the meeting, with Grace Eakin accompanying on the piano.

A short business meeting was held with the president, Mrs. C. N. Moore presiding. Mrs. Grant Fisher was appointed as evangelistic director of the Frances Willard group. The union voted to contribute to both the Lillian Stevens fund and Willard fund. Mrs. C. N. Moore, chairman.

of the entertainment committee for the regional conference to be held in New Castle on April 16-17, announced that the city unions would be asked to entertain guests in their homes.

An interesting paper entitled, "The Spirit of Uncle Sam," was read by Mrs. Katherine McConahay. The guest speaker on this occasion was Dr. Robert Meade Patterson, who gave a very instructive talk on temperance.

A social period followed with lunch served by the hostess, and her aides: Mrs. C. E. Aiken, Mrs. Margaret Johnson, Mrs. J. N. McCandless, Grace Eakin, and Mrs. Charles Martin.

The next meeting will be held on March 15, the place to be announced.

Major Earl Henry Given Promotion

Commander Of Harrisburg State Police Barracks Goes To Philadelphia Post

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Feb. 21.—Major Earl J. Henry, commander of the State Motor Police squadron at Harrisburg, today succeeded Major William Ruch as head of the Philadelphia barracks.

A native of Lancaster, Henry joined the state highway patrol in 1924 and was placed in charge of the Harrisburg area in 1937 when the patrol was merged with the state police.

State Police Commissioner Lynn G. Adams, who announced the transfer, commended Henry as "a capable and well-trained police officer."

Henry's departure left Capt. Chas. C. Keller in temporary direction of the Harrisburg headquarters.

Major Ruch, a veteran with 16 years' service, was discharged last week for reasons which Adams and Gov. Arthur H. James chose to keep secret.

SEVEN BOMBING PLANES ATTACK SWEDISH TOWN

When Soviet forces were attempting to take Petsamo and the so-called "Nickel City" of Salmijarvi, Russian planes on several occasions crossed into Norwegian territory dropping bombs, and a number of artillery shells fell on the Norwegian side of the frontier.

Hundreds of Finnish refugees attempting to cross the Finnish-Norwegian border by way of Kirkenes also have been subjected to Russian fire, and in these cases Soviet shells again dropped on Norway's soil.

In the sub-Arctic areas of Finland, Sweden and Norway, the borders are clearly defined but not easy to distinguish from the air, and several Finnish villages lie directly on the Swedish frontier.

Pending full investigation and reports from prefectural authorities in Lapland, the Swedish Government withheld full announcement of today's incident.

Sharp Protest Certain

It was assumed that a sharp protest would be made to Moscow even if the bombing was found to be accidental. Neutral observers expressed doubt that the Soviets had any sort of an offensive against Sweden, particularly in view of the announced decision of the government and of King Gustav to withhold outright military aid to Finland.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In this connection, International News Service disclosed in a dispatch from London yesterday that the Swedish Government had agreed to lend military assistance to Finland on receipt of a promise from Moscow that Sweden will not be attacked if and when Finland is conquered.)

If the bombing of Pajala is found to have been accidental, it will parallel an incident in the early stages of the war between Nazi Germany and the Anglo-French allies which for a time gravely strained relations between Great Britain and Denmark.

In the course of an attempted raid on the German fortified island of Sylt, a British bomber flew over the Danish city of Esbjerg and dropped a number of bombs.

These exploded on contact and set fire to a number of buildings. Investigation of the remnant of the bombs showed that they were of British manufacture, and the Danish government promptly lodged a stern protest with Britain.

Several days later, the British government accepted responsibility for the bombing, stating that the flier apparently lost his way in the fog and apparently mistook Danish for his German objective. A formal apology was sent to Copenhagen and reparations made for the damage done.

Claims That Woman Fired Fatal Shot

(International News Service)

WARREN, Ark., Feb. 21.—Harold Finnon Burks, 23, of Banks, Ark., today admitted he was the companion of gun-toting Mrs. Claude Henry when they "thumbed" a ride from J. C. Calloway, of Houston, Tex., and then murdered Calloway, federal agents announced.

Burks accused Mrs. Henry of shooting Calloway, according to E. L. Richmond of the federal bureau of investigation. Officers previously quoted Mrs. Henry as confessing that she fired the fatal shot in a rice field near Lake Charles, La.

Filling in gaps in Mrs. Henry's story, Burks said they forced Calloway to remove his clothing before killing him in order to delay his identification while they escaped in his car. He further said they had planned to rob an Arkansas bank to get money to free Mrs. Henry's husband, who is in prison for the murder of a Texas officer.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

LEAD POISONING

There are various factors that make chronic lead poisoning an illness so dangerous that children often die of it. One is that the child may have taken in the lead in such small quantities that the onset of the symptoms is very gradual, and the doctor isn't called until the child is in convulsions or a coma.

Another factor is that when the doctor isn't called until this stage, diagnosing the lead poisoning is frequently very difficult. He may suspect what is the matter, but on searching for a possible source of the lead, he may be baffled by the fact that there just doesn't seem to be anything around that the child could get it from.

I remember once almost losing a baby just because of this. The baby had symptoms that pointed to lead poisoning, and it was a very sick child. Yet, I hadn't found any source of the poison, and I had almost come to the conclusion that my diagnosis must be wrong. The child was breast fed, it didn't have access to metal toys, or painted ones either. Then I made a discovery—the mother was in the habit of using a nipple shield. Sure enough, when I examined it, it was lead. Then I knew for certain what the baby's trouble was, and as a result he lived.

In treating chronic lead poisoning, your doctor will prescribe a diet containing a minimum of calcium, for we have found that calcium tends to cause the lead to be deposited on the bones and so it is prevented from passing out of the system.

Anyone with lead poisoning should be given plenty of water to drink for this helps wash out the poison. Your doctor will know how to treat any paralysis present if the illness has gone that far.

Every parent should keep on the lookout for toys that might cause lead poisoning in a child. Remember, a baby will nearly always put his toys in his mouth. Ordinary paint contains lead. Fortunately most toy manufacturers today use paint that contains no lead. However, it is wise to make certain that the toys are safe. Also to see to it that a child doesn't get a chance to gnaw on painted articles like chairs, beds or beads.

We have always guarded the Dionne Quintuplets against lead poisoning. They had enough to go through without that. I can tell you. We watched their toys and saw to it they didn't get any metal or painted ones.

We had out in the play yard what we call a "gymnasium," but which was really a sort of frame for the children to climb around on. It was just natural wood because I had the hidden paint on it. You see, the children, as they cut teeth, would bite on the wood in this structure. However, one of the attendants thought the "gymnasium" looked untidy, so he started out to paint it on his own hook. Fortunately I saw him before he got very far and I made him go at it with sandpaper and clean off every bit of paint.

Federal Income Tax In Nutshell

LOSSES FROM CASUALTIES, THEFT, AND WAGES

To be deductible, a loss arising from fires, storms, shipwrecks, or other casualty need not be connected with the taxpayer's trade or business. If his home or his automobile is destroyed by fire, or his summer bungalow damaged by flood or storm, he may claim a deduction for the loss sustained.

Loss of property by theft or burglary is an allowable deduction, and need not be incurred in trade or business. Hence, the loss occasioned by the theft of jewelry or an automobile used for pleasure and convenience is deductible. It must be established, however, that the property actually was stolen. Should circumstances attending the loss leave the owner in doubt as to whether it was stolen or lost, the claim would not be allowed.

Losses from wagering transactions are allowable only to the extent of the gains from such transactions.

A loss is deductible only in the year in which it is sustained, even though, as in the case of a theft or casualty, it may not be discovered until a later year. Losses compensated for by insurance or otherwise, of course, are not deductible. However, in the event the amount of insurance is not sufficient to recompense for the loss sustained, the excess of the loss over the amount of the insurance is deductible.

General losses for which an amount may be deducted for income-tax purposes must be evidenced by closed and completed transactions, fixed by identifiable events, bona fide and actually sustained during the taxable period for which claimed. For instance, a person possessing stock of a corporation cannot deduct from gross income any amount claimed as a loss merely on account of shrinkage in value of such stock through fluctuation of the market or otherwise. In the case of an individual the loss allowable in such cases is that actually suffered when the stock is disposed of. If any securities that is shares of stock in a corporation and right to subscribe for or to such shares become worthless during the taxable year and are capital assets, the loss resulting therefrom shall, for income tax purposes, be considered as a loss from the sale or exchange on the last day of such taxable year of capital assets. Losses of individuals from the sale or exchange of capital assets are allowed as follows: 100 per cent if the capital more than 18 months; 66 2/3 per cent if held for more than 18 months but not for more than 24 months; and 50 per cent if held for more than 24 months.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Heart disease causes one-fifth of all deaths in the United States. Twice as many deaths as caused by cancer.

What are the chief causes of heart disease?

Rheumatic fever and high blood pressure.

Hardening of the arteries and syphilis.

Endocarditis or inflammation of the lining of the heart.

Congenital or inborn defects.

Prevention of heart disease calls for temperance.

Also, good nutrition in childhood and plenty of sunshine.

Avoidance of obesity and nervous strain in later life.

The high-pressure, busy business man should slow down.

Wife Of Young Sends Despatch

Tokyo Correspondent Is Still Held In Prison By Authorities

EXPECT CASE WILL BE DECIDED SOON

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following dispatch on the case of James R. Young, International News Service far eastern manager, held by Tokyo authorities in connection with a series of articles cabled following a long tour of China, was received in New York from his wife, a Houston, Tex., girl, today. Advice indicates that Young, a native of Springfield, Ill., will soon be released from custody, although his deportation from Japan may be ordered.)

By MARJORIE YOUNG
Special Cable To International
News Service

TOKYO, Feb. 21.—My husband Jimmy Young today began his second month as an inmate of a Japanese prison, with the prospect that his fate will be decided one way or another within the next ten days.

He was moved yesterday from a cramped, uncomfortable cell in Tokyo's Marunouchi police station to the Sugan prison, an imposing new concrete edifice which covers five acres and looks like a New York apartment house.

There are fifteen hundred criminals in the place but Jimmy is the sole occupant of the private detention ward, where for the first time since his arrest he is enjoying the luxury of a bed.

For the past month, Jimmy has slept on a concrete floor with only a couple of thin blankets to cushion him.

Police finished their questioning yesterday, and the case was handed over to the procurator, the Japanese version of a district attorney, whose duty it is to review the evidence and decide whether or not Jimmy is to go on trial.

He has a maximum of ten days in which to make his decision.

Thanks to Jimmy's many friends,

the case is being hurried, and the procurator questions him throughout the day.

Accompanied by Y. Fukuba, vice-president of the Tokyo Bar association and Russell Durgin of Danbury, Conn., secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who has been of invaluable help to me, I went to Sugan prison today hoping to interview my husband, whom I have not been permitted to see since his arrest.

We were politely but firmly refused this permission by Warden Yau-Chi, who however displayed the utmost friendliness and hospitality. I wrote a note to Jimmy which the warden agreed to deliver personally.

Smilingly he accepted my suggestions regarding Jimmy's diet, although I was surprised he did not balk at fruit and milk for breakfast. Just to prove that his heart was in the right place, he insisted that Mr. Durgin and I stay for lunch and sample the prison fare.

It wasn't bad.

So far as I could learn, Jimmy is fairly comfortable. Although his quarters are unheated, he is managing to keep warm by wearing borrowed and sterilized underwear and socks and with the aid of United States Ambassador Crew's old fur coat, which started the prison staff by its arrival at the bastille in the custody of an embassy secretary.

Local People To Seek To Identify Gypsies Suspected

State Motor police and Sheriff M. McInnis tonight will take several Lawrence county people to Pittsburgh in an effort to attempt an identification of several gypsies who may have been connected with thefts here last summer.

The gypsies, two women and a man, were returned by authorities from Stroudsburg to Allegheny Co. It was reported today by Private R. O. McCullough that several Beaver Valley victims had identified the gypsies as those who had ascertained they were last summer.

It's the cats, says George Baker, St. Louis county, Missouri, deputy sheriff. He says they became a nuisance by setting off an electric fire burglar alarm in a grocery warehouse, waking the neighbors and calling him out on false alarms "six and seven times a week."

State To Probe Boys' Escape

Morgans Training School
May Also Be Included In Investigation

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 21.—A State Department of Welfare probe of the escape of 13 boys from the Pennsylvania Industrial Training school at Morgans was reported widened in scope today to include an investigation of overcrowding and alleged lack of discipline and surveillance.

Two bureau of correction investigators, sent by Welfare Secretary E. Arthur Sweeney to look primarily into the escape of the 13 youths, purportedly have informed Harrisburg officials that the institution is badly overcrowded and that discipline is "very lax."

Two of the escaped youths, some of whom were armed with knives and blackjacks they made at the school, are still at large. The wholesale break occurred last Friday.

Superintendent Kenneth Gordon appointed by ex-Gov. George H. Earle, said the boys ran away because they thought the food was not up to standard, adding:

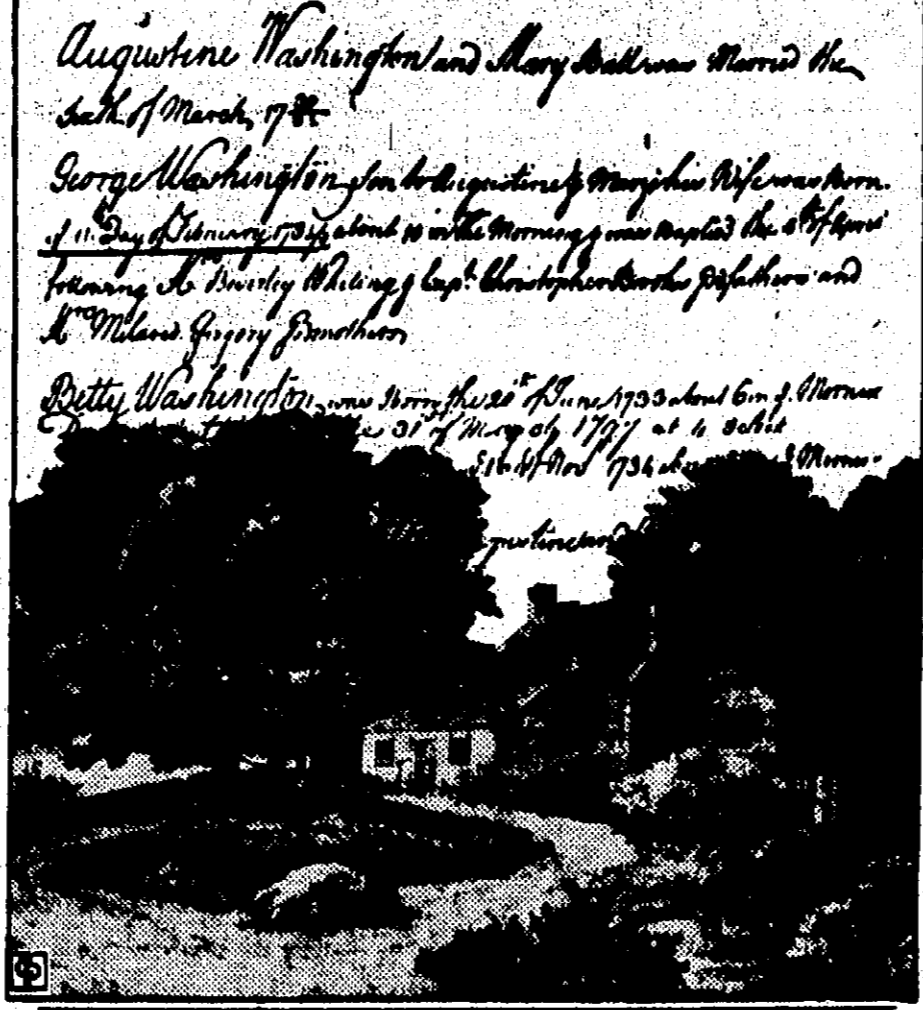

"They complained about the beans not being well-cooked. On investigation, I learned the beans were not well cooked because of difficulty with the steam supply at the dietary. However, they had lots of other stuff to eat and there was no excuse for anybody going hungry. These boys just used that as an excuse."

The knives and blackjacks the boys had when they escaped were "surreptitiously" manufactured by them in the school shops, Gordon declared. He said the school policy was not to examine each student every day, but a search of all quarters is made periodically.

Actress Files To Divorce Fred Perry British Tennis Ace

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21.—Helen Vinson, screen actress, admitted today that this time her marriage to Fred Perry, the British tennis ace, is definitely on the rocks.

She has brought a divorce action against him, the second one to be filed. The first was dismissed about a year ago when they decided to patch up their differences and try married life again.

At that time, the couple announced they had decided to renew their "perfect romance" and Miss Vinson declared it was every woman's prerogative to change her mind.

In her complaint on file today, the actress charged the noted tennis professional with cruel and inhuman treatment.

Miss Vinson and Perry exchanged vows in a "runaway marriage" at Harrison, N. Y., on September 12, 1935. After a champagne wedding supper the actress announced their was the "perfect romance."

British Churches Remain Without Bomb Protection

Fear Camouflaging Might Destroy Beauty Of Age-Old Structures

(International News Service)
LONDON.—The camouflaging and sand-bagging of Britain's cathedrals and other historic buildings is not to be attempted by the government owing to the possibility of irreparable damage.

After discussion with the church authorities and other responsible authorities, the government has decided that these buildings must take their chance in air raids.

Camouflage, to be effective, according to the Ministry of Home Security, must be on such a scale that the texture of the stone, the result of centuries of weathering, might be lost beyond repair.

In addition the cathedrals and other famous buildings would be recognizable from the air owing to their characteristic planning. Another danger is that treatment by camouflage might give the enemy the impression that the building was being used for a military purpose.

The ministry, suggested, however, that structural precautions for protection against air attack may be advisable but this should not extend to external disfigurement.

New Castle Tops Butler To End Season, 40-37

Eddie Cowden And Kelly In Final Game, Gennock High Point Man

NEW CASTLE ENDS IN SECOND PLACE

New Castle high school basketball team ended its Section Three 1940 season last night at George Washington High gym floor by defeating a hard fighting Butler High team, 40 to 37, to clinch second place in the league final standing.

Eddie Cowden and Vince Kelly finished their scholastic careers last night and in glory too, the former a tall rangy blond, finished with nine of the New Castle points. He played a great floor game, as did Kelly, who had five of the local points.

New Castle High played off a last period rally that netted the Butler team 20 points and almost cost New Castle the victory. New Castle made but 12 points the fourth period.

Locals Lead At Half
Wilton started the scoring in the game and put Butler in front 2 to 0 at the outset with a field goal, then Gennock made a New Castle foul and Christopher's field goal gave New Castle the lead at 3 to 2 and never was the Red and Black clads behind the rest of the game.

The first period ended with New Castle enjoying a 7 to 3 lead. Gennock and Christopher had field goals for New Castle and Kelly and Cowden had fouls for the seven points. Butler's three points were made by Wilton.

A field goal and foul by Christopher put New Castle out in front 10 to 3 at the start of the second period. Halfway in the session, it was 14 to 2 New Castle and the first half ended 16 to 10. Butler had four field goals the first half to six for New Castle with Kelly having a pair of two-pointers in the second period. Dorcy, Brown and Denny did the Butler scoring.

New Castle Doubles Score
At Butler with two rapid field goals shortly after the beginning of the third period put New Castle out in front 22 to 11. DeRose of Butler having made a foul, and Cowden's field goal had started the scoring for New Castle. From this point on Butler started to pare down the score.

Halfway through the third period it was 25 to 15. The period closed 27 to 17 with New Castle ahead. Eddie Cowden and Al Buccell were the New Castle stars the third stanza with two field goals apiece. Butler had but one field goal the third session, made by Merle Iannotti, a sub for Wilton.

Play Fast Last Period
The final period was one of the most interesting and exciting of the year. New Castle was coasting with a 28 to 17 lead as the period began, but Butler with a determination set about to correct this and almost did.

Butler suffered the loss of its star center, Steve Dorcy, on four personal fouls just after the fourth period began. This did not, however, seem to weaken the Butler offense, as the leading scorer on the Butler team, Eddie Cowden, took time out. He dumped in three field goals the last period after relieving Dorcy, to make his total points read eight for the night.

Butler Creeps Up
With five minutes left to play New Castle, with Buccell and Thomas scoring, had a lead of 34 to 24. New Castle took time out. Brown made two field goals in rapid order to make the count New Castle 34 Butler 28 when play was resumed.

There was just a minute and a half left to play. The count stood 35 to 32 New Castle, with Butler Creeping up. Patfrath sank a bucket to make it 35-32 Butler too. Went wild. Cowden's field goal made it 37-34. Gennock made a field goal to run the count to 39-34. Gennock's foul made it 40-34. The clock was ticking off the seconds. Kelly went in for Christopher and DeRose for Brown for the Butler team. Wilton, the lad who began the

C. having staged its Parade of champs and near-champs before the better crowd of the winter season, fans now will look forward to Saturday night when a good show will be staged in Ellwood City for the benefit of the Orthopedic fund. Benny Bartle, Ellwood City light-heavyweight will slug it out with Nick La Volpe of Youngstown. Fans are sure to be frenzied with excitement long before the bout terminates. Sammy Secrete, winner over Sonny Horne here, will swap jabs with Al Sayers of East Liverpool and Nick Retardo who lost to Billy Murray will show his hometown folk what he can do against Bud Walton of East Liverpool. Billy Reale, Frankie Moran, Babe Retardo and others well known will hurl gloves. The Ellwood City Lincoln school gym probably will be filled.

The boys at the Margaret Henry home were the guests of the Jefferson A. C. Monday night. A champion Conti spoke for the boys and thanked the club, adding: "Just wait until we grow up" meaning they would be boxers. After the show the youngsters crowded into the ring and showed in some ways that they would like to be aged sufficiently now to seek fistic glory.

Ed Barrow says the success of New York Yankees lies in its five great scouts. . . Montreal Royals is now the number one farm club of the Brooklyn Dodgers. . . Lowering of 4.15 mark for mile is expected in National A. A. U. championships Saturday. . . Cecile Bowes is leading the field into the third round of the women's squash racquet championships. . . Boston Bruins and the New York Rangers are tied for first place in the National Hockey League. . . Jimmy Demaree and Tony Penna will participate in the 18-hole playoff for the 140 western open golf championship. Coach C. Henderson has signed to coach at Occidental College.

Conn May Box Louis Next Fall

Promoter Mike Jacobs Arranges Program To Keep 'Heavies' Busy

TONY GALENTO MAY ALSO MEET 'CHAMP'

By LAWTON CARVER
International Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—A parade of heavyweights unlike anything seen around here in recent months is forming. In the order of their appearance, with everything brought up to date, Lee Savold of Des Moines, will meet Bob Pastor of New York on March 11; Buddy Baer, of the large California Baers, will face Valentin Campolo, of the Argentine, on March 15; Champion Joe Louis will mingle with square off against and tie into Johnny Paycheck, of Des Moines, on April 3, and in June there will be two so-called major attractions. They are, if the customers haven't fled by that time.

The June festivities will open with Louis facing Savold, if the latter beats Pastor, or with Billy Conn, the light heavyweight champion, against Pastor, if Pastor beats Savold. Meanwhile, Conn will defend his light-heavy title against Gus Lesnevich at Miami. Tony Galento, Tony Fari and Arturo Godoy also will be fitted into the situation.

Putting all this another way, there has been no change in the program outlined from time to time by Promoter Mike Jacobs as a tentative list of presentations to keep the heavyweights well fed, well punched and happy. He isn't even dropping Campolo, despite the fact that the Argentine slugger lost to Jack Marshall of Dallas, Tex., Monday night.

Bringing Back Buddy Baer
Having thus made his plans into now about the rest of the year, That's where Galento comes back into the picture, and he probably will take on Louis some time during the summer, with Conn as a possible opponent for the champion later on, say in September.

Yes, they still are toying around with the idea of giving Conn a Louis fight this year, and if no other opponent is available and Conn comes along against various and sundry second-raters in the meantime, he probably will be in there. Not for long, of course. But what are they going to do. After all, Louis must be kept busy.

And if you don't think that is a problem, you need be only reminded that they did stage Godoy for the champion and are bringing Buddy Baer back as a contender. That gives you a rough idea.

High Reserves Defeat Butler

Locals Put End To 18-Game Winning Streak; Game Ends In Mixup

New Castle High School Reserves stopped an 18-game winning streak for the Butler High Reserves last night at the Washington High gym in the preliminary game 30 to 21. The game with only 50 seconds left to play ended in a general mixup when in the heat of the game the New Castle and Butler boys began swinging at each other.

The floor was soon restored to order by cooler heads and it was then that Coach "Whitney" Silander decided to take his team off of the floor.

At the half the score favored New Castle 15 to 10. Cooper with 13 points was high man for New Castle, with Miller and Glowatski best for Butler.

Sports World Ramblings

Ringside nibbels scribbled in between jabs and hooks: Monday's gallery was reminiscent of the halcyon days of the Jolly Bowl when boxing was the "it" sport. It seemed much like a renaissance. The conglomeration of talented fistic younglings said "thanks" by putting on a show that riveted the attention of the overflow crowd. The only sad note was the Moran-Porto affair. The prosaic event, in which the classy Frankie turned thespian and did a poor job, should have been announced as an exhibition. When the erudite "Bugs" Walther informed the spectators of the circumstances, the fans readily accepted the incident for what it was worth.

Gus Phan is a shrewd guy, you can't fool him. The announcement came at the wrong time. The most devout mitt followers here saw the exciting proceedings. Among the staunch followers your newsboy spotted Jimmy Morelli, Adolph Lang, Dr. R. B. Jaremski, his son Robert, Bob Lamore, Angelo Frediani, Humbert and Bill Fazzone, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Christof, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Blundo, John Bender, J. Kulkin, A. J. ## Group Marks 31st Anniversary Here

Dinner-Party Held At Legion Home By C. I. A. To B. Of L. E. Tuesday

A special meeting, in the form of a dinner-party, was held on Tuesday evening, in the American Legion Home, by members of the Grand International Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, to mark the 31st anniversary of the lodge, in this city.

A delicious dinner menu was served at 6 o'clock, by members of the luncheon committee. Husbands of the members were special guests for the occasion. A number of people motored from Youngstown and Sharon for the party, also.

Members of the entertainment committee provided a fine program for the hours following the dinner. Games of various types were played and prizes awarded to the game winners.

Next regular meeting of the organization will be held at 2 o'clock, Thursday afternoon, February 22, in the Legion Home.

Rev. W. A. Thornton Gives Fine Lecture

Mahoningtown Young People's Chorus Featured In Short Concert Tuesday

There was a fairly good representation from the ward churches at a lecture-concert program on Tuesday night, in the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church auditorium, despite the inclement weather.

Rev. W. A. Thornton, pastor of the Epworth Methodist church, gave a fine lecture on the "Life of Joan Of Arc." Rev. Thornton traced in very dramatic and entertaining fashion, the entire life of this famous woman of history.

Up until about 25 years ago, Rev. Thornton resided in England, and had ready access to the history of the "old world."

Members of the Mahoningtown Young Peoples chorus were featured in a short concert. The chorus was under the leadership of Miss Violet Shuler, director.

Rev. Milton E. Shearer, pastor of the Madison Avenue Christian church, aided with the program.

NEWS BRIEFS IN WARD DISTRICT

Rural roads in this district are all in rather fair condition at the present time. Most of them are open again after the recent heavy snows. Chains are necessary, however, if a motorist plans to leave the hard surfaced highway.

The past seven days have been rather trying ones for the rural mail carrier in the Seventh Ward. The first day, following the heavy snow fall here, he was several hours late, and then found it impossible to reach some of the patrons.

Three times each week, members of the Epworth League of the Mahoning Methodist church, who are members of the cast of "Small Town Romeo," meet in the church to practice.

Since city workmen repaired the drains on Lafayette street, under the railroad overhead bridge, the water of the past few days has been carried off without delaying traffic, as it did in the past.

Double-header freight trains wheeling through the district at a high rate of speed are becoming common sights to local people of late months.

ELDER SPRAINS ANKLE
Harry Elder, manager of the Mahoning Finance Loan Association, is absent from his duties while recovering at his home from a sprained ankle, sustained in a fall while visiting in Pittsburgh this week.

RELATIVE PASSES AWAY
Mrs. Sam DePiero of East Cherry street has been called to Youngstown, O., by the death of a relative. Mrs. DePiero plans to attend the funeral services on Thursday.

YOU'LL ALWAYS BE CONSTIPATED UNLESS—

You correct faulty living habits—unless liver bile flows freely every day into your intestines to help digest fatty foods and guard against constipation.

SO USE COMMON SENSE! Drink more water, eat more fruit and vegetables. And if assistance is needed, take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They not only assure gentle yet thorough bowel movements but ALSO stimulate liver bile to help digest fatty foods.

Olive Tablets, being purely vegetable, are wonderful! Used successfully for over 20 years by Dr. F. M. Edwards in treating patients for constipation and sluggish liver bile, today Olive Tablets are justly FIRST choice of thousands of grateful users. Test their goodness TONIGHT! 15¢, 30¢, 60¢. All druggists.

Bride Doll—Vincle Battista.
Bishop Doll—Rocco Mediate.
Director, Gertrude Braude Trobe; pianist, Jane Kiminkinen.
